News

The LOLYO employee app is an internal social network that fosters and rekindles company culture.

Disseminate news and important information simply and easily in the news feed. Obtain valuable immediate feedback from your employees or conduct surveys actively. The integrated motivational system encourages employees to engage, and since they get "rewards" for reading, everybody knows what is going on.

Notice board

The social media notice board for your employees.
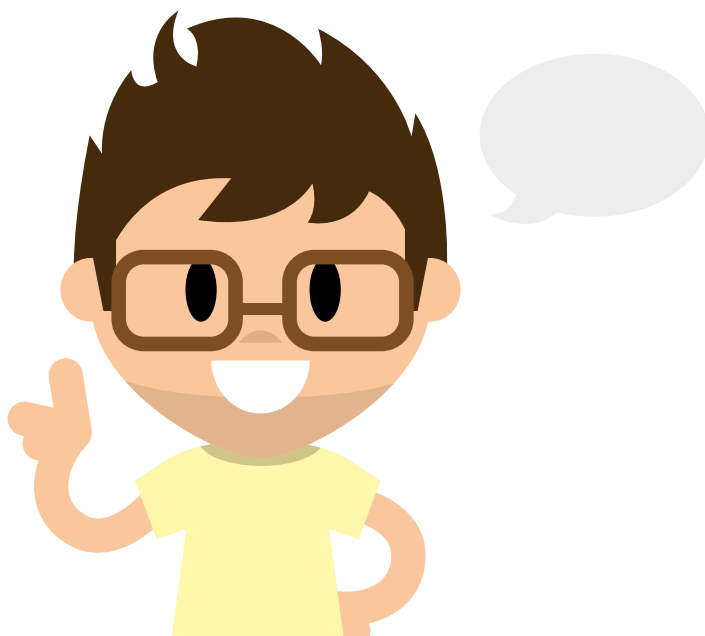

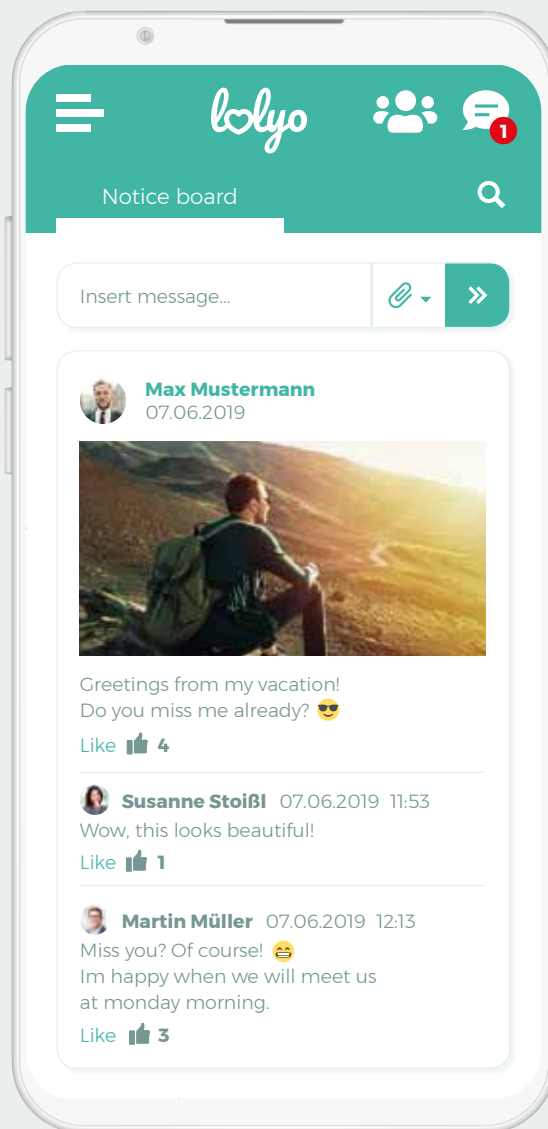

This is where your employees post the personal experiences, events and information they wish to share with their company colleagues. Here, all your employees can engage in a motivated dialogue – social-media-style.

Chat

The direct link to your employees and amongst colleagues through an internal company messenger.

There is one more thing ...

23.10.2018 15:05

Whether it is a single or a group chat: all conversations remain in the company. An absolute must in times of data protection and GDPR. Colleagues find each other easily in the list of employees and get in touch immediately.
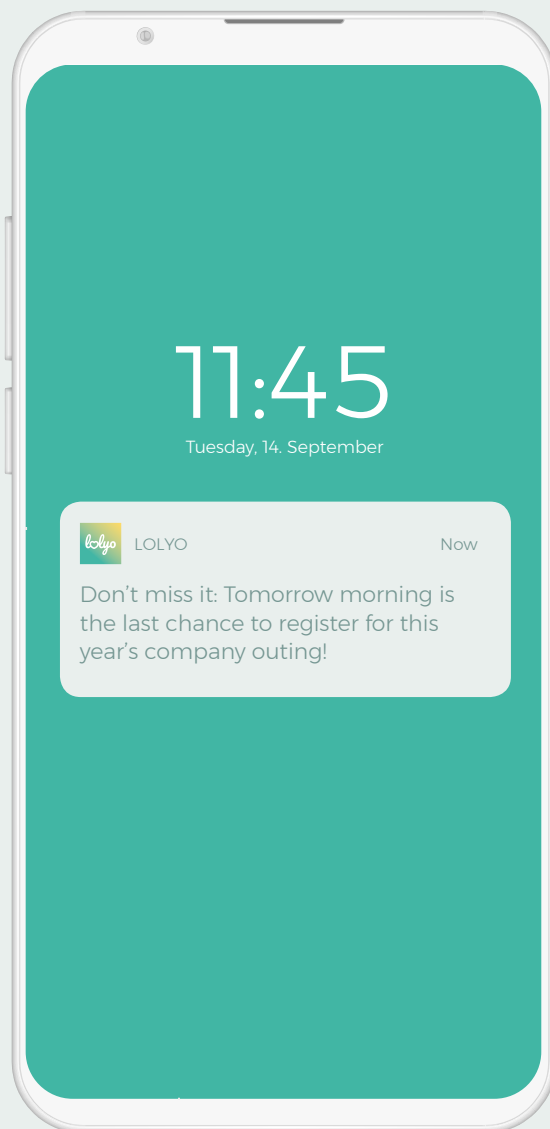

I got a new message!

Push notifications

Send important messages directly to the smartphone of your employees or colleagues.

LOLYO   Now

Don't miss it: Tomorrow morning is the last chance to register for this year's company outing!
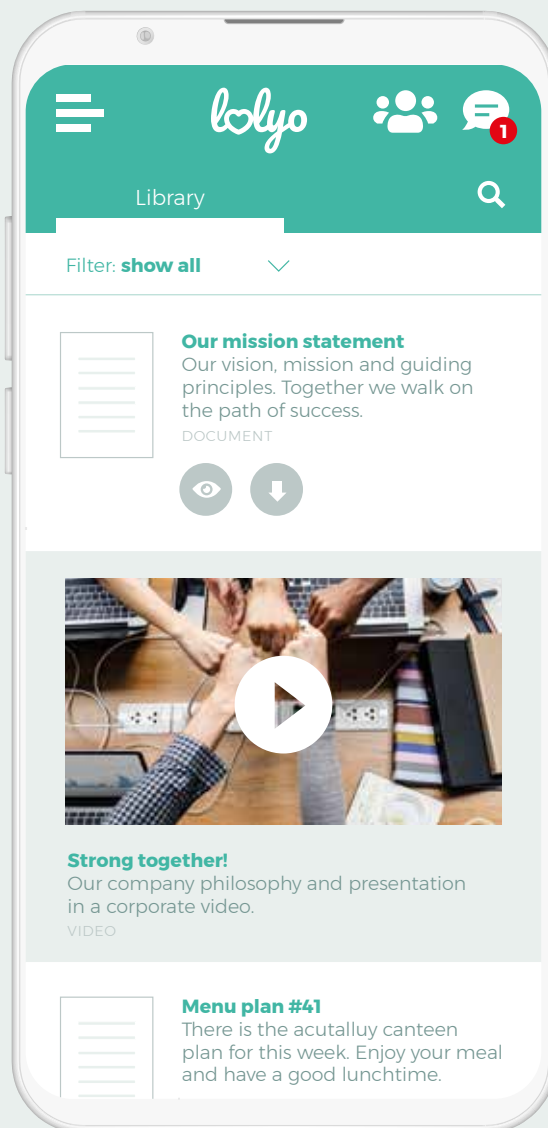

Bid farewell to e-mails and phone calls without reply. There is no other, more efficient way to reach your employees than sending a push notification to their phone.

Library

Useful information is provided to your employees on videos and in pdf documents, such as canteen menus, manuals, training materials, etc.
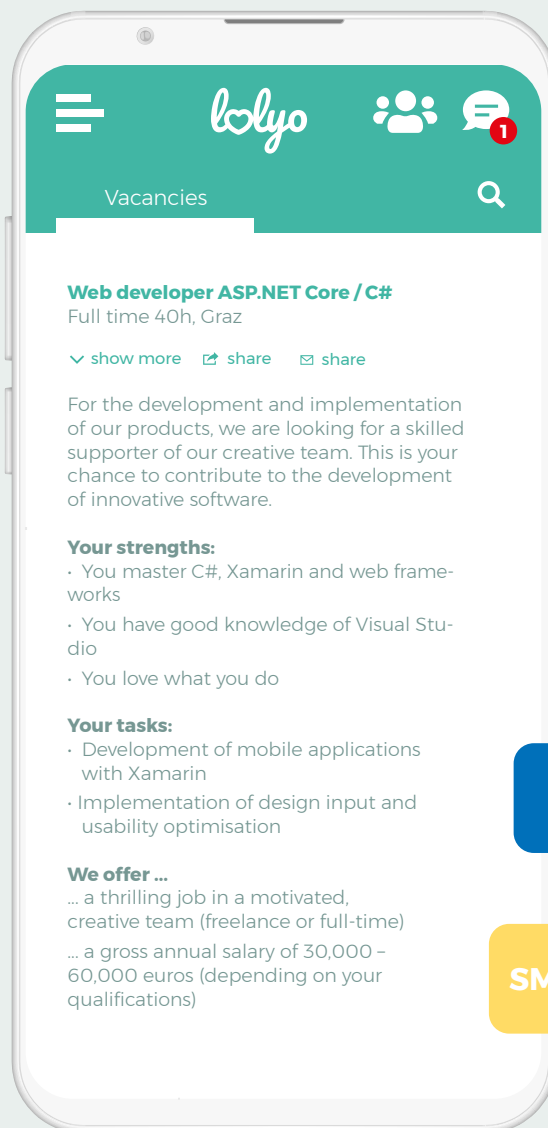

If you wish to increase the readiness of your employees to share information, communicate via videos. The info point allows you to provide videos and documents easily, regardless of whether it is a manual or a presentation of your company. Every video or document can be assigned to one or several groups. This ensures that every employee only receives the content designated for them.

Recruiting through recommendations

Use your employees as recruiters – and motivate them with recognition points.
